GIRL SAVES PET HORSE FROM BARN ON BUSHMAN FARM

Eileen Bushman, 7, Raises Alarm While Taking Animal From Stall.

Love for a horse prompted Eileen Bushman, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Bushman, Franklin township, near Mummasburg, to dash into the burning barn on her father's farm this morning, release the animal and drive it to safety.

Fire of undetermined origin totally destroyed the Bushman barn, causing an estimated loss of $3,000, partly covered by insurance.

Little Miss Bushman, going to the barn shortly before 7 o'clock this morning, discovered the hay mow ablaze. Heedless of the danger, and thinking only of the safety of the horse, which was one of her pets on the farm, she dashed into the stable, where the animal was tied, unhitched and led the horse to safety outside.

Raises Alarm

As she was releasing the horse, little Miss Bushman was screaming, "Mother, the barn is on fire." Her mother, who was in the house, ran out and spread the alarm among the neighbors, when she saw the proportions of the blaze. Mrs. Bushman's husband had gone to Mummasburg an hour before.

S. D. Bucher and Allen Hartman, neighbors of the Bushmans, were among the first volunteers to arrive on the scene and they succeeded in moving a farm tractor and automobile out of the burning barn. These two men, assisted by others, succeeded in removing other valuable farming implements and harness from the barn.

Three Companies Respond

Alarms were sent in for the Gettysburg, Biglerville and Cashtown fire companies. The Gettysburg company two hours before had responded to a call to the home of H. L. Grimm along the Carlisle road, and left there, believing the fire was under control. Lack of water hampered the firemen of the three departments at the Bushman blaze, and although efforts of a bucket brigade were directed to extinguishing the flames, the fire had gained such headway that their efforts were futile.

In addition to the barn, a hog pen, large chicken house and several other outbuildings, adjacent to the barn, were destroyed. Two hogs were consumed when flames overtook them before they could be removed from the building in which they were housed. Much hay and baled straw in the barn also was consumed.

The origin of the fire is a mystery to Mr. and Mrs. Bushman. Mr. Bushman had been at the barn shortly before 6 o'clock, and had found nothing amiss. An hour later the blaze was discovered by his daughter.

Auxiliary Opens Drive For Members

Driving for all new members possible before the formal opening of the nurses home at the Annie M. Warner hospital, Saturday afternoon, June 6, members of the woman's auxiliary of the hospital will conduct a house-to-house canvass in Gettysburg during the next ten days; it was announced this morning.

Those in charge of the drive express the hope that solicitors will be given cordial receptions, so that the town can be turned in with as large a showing as possible. A similar drive has already been conducted in various parts of the county, and the response has been very generous, those in charge say.

The annual dues for membership in the auxiliary are $1 a year, all of which is immediately put to work in the interests of the local institution.

ENDORSES DRIVE FOR ASSOCIATION

Local Chamber of Commerce Gives Its Approval of Fish and Game Conservation Drive.

Endorsed by the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce a drive for members in the Central Pennsylvania Fish and Game Association is being conducted here. A temporary campaign organization has been formed with William H. Tipton, chairman; Mark Bream, vice-chairman, and I. L. Taylor, secretary.

The committee in charge, with an assisting executive committee, will institute the securing of memberships in Gettysburg and vicinity during the next few days. Each fifty members entitles the local organization to one director in the main body which has a membership of 3700. These directors from each town meet monthly within a radius of fifty miles of Harrisburg.

Money secured from memberships in the organization is divided so that seventy-five per cent of the money realized from a certain community is expended in that community. The expenditure of the money will follow an outline stipulated by local members through the local director.

The first list of members includes the following Gettysburg citizens: W. H. Tipton, D. J. Forney, W. J. Nelson, J. W. Brehm, C. W. Beales, President and Mrs. H. W. A. Hanson, of Gettysburg College; C. K. Gilbert, W. Preston Hull, M. E. Bair, Wayne M. Keet, C. L. Bream, D. E. Sheads, J. Donald Swope, Robert F. Bell, E. S. Plank, A. Z. Rogers, P. W. Stallsmith, H. C. Mittinger, C. W. Stock, W. B. Fleming, J. H. Pape, E. E. Power, and Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lewars.

Chairman Tipton has issued a call for a meeting of all the members at the court house, Friday, May 29, at eight o'clock in the evening. Chairman Tipton also asks that each member bring one other member to the meeting. According to present plans the first fifty members required for the designating of a local director are expected by that date. Various Chambers of Commerce have endorsed the work of the association.

New Nurses Home to Be Formally Opened June 6th

NURSES HOME FOR THE ANNIE M. WARNER HOSPITAL, GETTYSBURG, PA. DESIGNED BY A. STARK, ARCHITECT, YORK, PA.

COUNTY URGED TO SEE NURSES HOME

New Quarters at Annie M. Warner Hospital to be Formally Opened on June 6.

All Adams county is being invited to attend the formal opening of the nurses home at the Annie M. Warner hospital, Saturday afternoon, June 6, between the hours of 2 and 4 o'clock. Members of the board of directors of the hospital, the hospital staff and the Woman's Auxiliary will be in attendance to direct visitors through the new quarters, already occupied by the superintendent and her capable staff of nurses.

Without being pretentious, the building is built for comfort, the rooms are big, cheerful and have pleasant outlooks. Everything was built so that the surroundings would be home-like for the nurses after their round of duties.

Of brick construction, the new home has twelve sleeping rooms for nurses, a superintendent's room, a reception room, a directors' room and janitor's quarters. The interior is done in cream, with hardwood floors. The colonial style of architecture was followed throughout.

Will Raise Efficiency

It is believed that the standard of efficiency already attained by the Warner hospital, which enjoys an enviable rank among Pennsylvania hospitals, will be raised by the addition of the nurses home. While the nurses were housed in the hospital itself, it was almost impossible for them to secure the proper rest when off duty, because noises throughout the building generally disturbed them.

Most of the rooms in the new building, which stands about 100 yards south of the hospital itself, have been furnished, but other pieces of furniture are still to be procured. Authorities at the hospital and directors are urging that everybody in the county take advantage of the formal opening day to visit the nurses' home.

MYSTERY AROUND AMUNDSEN CREW

Polar Party May be Verifying Its Positions, or Starting Back Afoot.

(By Associated Press.)

New York, May 27.—Today is the sixth since the Amundsen polar flying expedition hopped off for the north and the whereabouts and welfare of the six adventures remain as much of a mystery as ever.

When their two planes disappeared from view at Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, all communications with them stopped as Captain Amundsen went without wireless equipment so as to carry as much motor fuel as possible.

As to what has befallen the party since, there are several possibilities, but the truth can be for the present only a matter of conjecture. Having reached the pole or its vicinity, the explorers may be spending some time in verifying their positions and making the necessary records to prove their feat to the scientific world.

Exploring Land

Again they may have discovered a new land in the Arctic and be engaged in exploring it.

Another theory, and this put forward by some who know the mettle of the discoverer of the South Pole is that he knew it would be impossible to fly back from the pole because of the damage likely to be suffered by the planes on landing; that outward trip was made without mishap and that the members of the expedition are now on their way back on foot across the ice which covers the northern seas.

REMODELED STORE TO OPEN THURSDAY

Formal opening of Harry Viener's new store, the remodeling and renovating of which was recently completed at a cost of $5000, will take place Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. Souvenirs will be given away.

The new store was completely remodeled throughout and new departments to include ladies' dresses, coats, shoes and millinery were added. A new lighting system was also installed.

One of the biggest improvements is the installation of a new modern front, marble base with large display windows and tile entrance.

The building presents a handsome appearance and adds considerably to the general improvement of business places on York street.

SENIORS SHAKE COOLIDGE'S HAND

Unexpected Pleasure Features Annual Pilgrimage of High School Graduates to Washington.

Still thrilled from their meeting with President Calvin Coolidge, Tuesday afternoon, members of the senior class of the Gettysburg High School returned from their two-day pilgrimage to Washington, D. C., Tuesday night, tired, but immensely happy.

The meeting of the seniors with President Coolidge was by far the feature event of the trip, all members of the graduating class were agreed. The audience with the nation's chief executive, arranged by Senator George Wharton Pepper, senior senator from Pennsylvania, was granted at 12:30 o'clock, when the seniors filed past the President, and gripped his hand.

The meeting with President Coolidge was entirely unexpected, since the seniors understood that the executive was just recovering from an indisposition suffered last Saturday, and had not been receiving visitors since. Preliminary arrangements for the meeting were made with Senator Pepper by George W. Black, secretary of the local school board, who accompanied the seniors on their Washington trip.

Visit Without Incident

The annual visit of the seniors to Washington was made without incident. The party, traveling in automobiles, left here early Monday morning, arriving in the Capital City shortly before noon. A tour of the public buildings and places of interest took place Monday afternoon.

On Tuesday morning, they visited Arlington National cemetery and Mount Vernon, returning to Washington in time for the reception by President Coolidge, which took place in the executive offices on the White House grounds. Afterward the seniors had their pictures taken.

The party divided Tuesday afternoon, some going to the Washington Athletics baseball game, while others visited other places of interest in the Capital City.

Early Morning Fire Levels Large Home of H. L. Grimm; Loss Is More Than $25,000

Four Times Fire Company Has Blaze Under Control, But Water Supply Fails; Only Two Chimneys Remain Standing; Fire of Undetermined Origin; Chimneys Cleaned Recently.

Fire of an undetermined origin early this morning destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Grimm, two miles north of town, on the Biglerville road, causing a loss of more than $25,000. The residence was known as Meadow Valley home-stead.

Four times, the Gettysburg fire department, responding to the early call, had the fire under control, but each time was frustrated when the water supply was exhausted. Two springs, three cisterns and a small run were pumped dry by the fire-fighters in a vain attempt to extinguish the rapidly spreading flames.

With the fire apparently under control shortly after 7:30 o'clock this morning, an alarm from Mummasburg called the local department, which departed, satisfied that a few fire-fighters could keep the few smoldering flames under control and eventually extinguish them.

Within five minute after the firemen left, flames burst out anew from a number of places throughout the large home, breaking through the walls, within which they had been blazing, and a small wind fanned the fire beyond control. There was no water with which to combat the conflagration and firemen were forced to stand by and watch the home burn.

Chimneys Cleaned Recently

The origin of the fire is unknown. Mr. Grimm had started a fire in the furnace late yesterday afternoon and early last evening started a fire in the fire place in the dining room. Four large chimneys in the dwelling were cleaned within the past month, which leads to the belief that the fire was not started from a defective chimney. Defective wiring is another theory advanced as to the cause of the conflagration, but Fire Chief James B. Aumen and Mr. Grimm were unable to determine the exact cause.

Mrs. Grimm Discovers Blaze
The blaze was first discovered shortly after five o'clock this morning. Mrs. Grimm arose to go into the bedroom occupied by her two little daughters, Dorothy Lee and Lucille Grimm, in response to a call from the children. When Mrs. Grimm entered the hallway on the second floor the passageway was partially filled with smoke.

Mr. Grimm, after a brief investigation, called the local department which responded immediately. The flames had spread between the walls above the dining room, but within a short time, the fire-fighters seemed to have the blaze under control. Small blazes burst out in two other sections of the home at the same time and firemen concentrated their attention on extinguishing these.

At this point, the supply of water was cut off, one of the cisterns from which the water was being taken having been pumped dry. A second cistern was tapped and soon the flames seemed to be under control again.

Checked Four Times

Twice after that, the firemen tapped another cistern and a spring, then later another spring in a field adjacent to the Grimm property in an attempt to extinguish the flames, but without avail. A small run nearby was then pumped dry and at this juncture the blaze seemed to have been brought under control for the fourth time.

The alarm from Mummasburg was then sounded and, with only a few smoldering sections visible, the local department departed, leaving several men to cobble these and keep them from spreading.

Within five minutes after the department departed, the entire north-west section of the home burst into flames which spread with marked rapidity to every section of the home and at 10 o'clock this morning, the home was in ruins. Two large chimneys remained standing.

Children Taken Out

When the fire was first discovered, the little daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Grimm were removed to the first floor and it was thought that they would be safe. Chief Aumen advised against the removal of the furniture out-of-doors satisfied that the fire was under control. A short time later, the local chief instructed the Grimms to remove all household belongings, which was done with the assistance of a number of volunteers.

Half of the home had just been re-roofed, while workmen were completing the remaining half. Part of the roofing material, stacked on the ground near the home, also burned.

Practically all of the furniture was removed from the home to the lawn south of the doomed house, but when the dwelling appeared lost, this was moved still further away, and despite this precaution, much of the furniture and other household goods were destroyed or ruined when sparks flew more than 300 feet, after the center roof section of the home caved in.

Remove Lighting System

When it appeared that it was impossible to save the home, the lighting system was removed. (Continued on Second Page)

I. L. TAYLOR HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Bricks From Chimney of Burning Home Barely Miss Him; Car Top Burned.

Several narrow escapes from serious injury were experienced by members of the Gettysburg fire department and volunteer firemen while flames devoured the large home of H. L. Grimm on the Biglerville road early this morning.

Several members of the Gettysburg company suffered burns about the face and hands while endeavoring to move furniture and afterward fixtures from the blazing dwelling, although none of their injuries were reported as being serious.

I. L. Taylor, president of the Gettysburg National Bank, while assisting with the removal of furniture and fixtures from the doomed home, escaped serious injury when bricks from the top of a chimney fell a distance of approximately 30 feet, barely missing Mr. Taylor. Had he not stepped back when he did, the falling debris would have struck him on the head, inflicting possibly serious injuries.

Sparks from the burning building blew out across the Biglerville road, communicating with trees and several automobiles, which were hastily driven out of the danger zone before any material damage had been done.

Car Top Burned

William Dill, of Barnesboro, who had been visiting his brother, M. T. Dill, Biglerville, and who was on his way to Philadelphia this morning, drove past the burning house, when the blaze was nearing its height. Unknown to the driver, sparks from the conflagration communicated with the top of Mr. Dill's machine. When he arrived in Gettysburg, he noticed the hole in the top of his car, although the fire had been extinguished by the time he arrived here.

possible to save the home, a fireman and other volunteers removed several doors and windows from the home. The lighting system was also removed, while several large tanks of gasoline and kerosene were removed.

Volunteers stood by to prevent the flames from spreading to a new four-car garage which was in process of construction near the home. This was saved, the wind fanning the blaze in another direction.

A large barn, near the Grimm property, valued at several thousand dollars, was threatened and caught fire several times, but this was saved.

Praises Company

"The Gettysburg Fire Department did remarkable work" said Mr. Grimm this afternoon. "They responded to the alarm within a few moments after I had called the local telephone exchange and the valiant manner in which they fought to combat the flames and save the home and furniture is deserving of special commendation and reflects credit upon the Gettysburg volunteer fire department. They did everything possible to save the home and, had the water supply held out, I am sure that the loss would not have reached $1,000. I am more than deeply gratified with their efforts and all those who volunteered their services in removing furniture and other household articles," added Mr. Grimm.

Mrs. Grimm had been preparing to leave with her two daughters for Charleston and Summerville, West Virginia, on Saturday for a month's visit with her parents and relatives. She is expected to complete her preparations and leave as she planned.

Mr. Grimm stated this afternoon that he had not fully decided to rebuild his home, adding that in all probability he would re-construct a new home as soon as the insurance adjustors had completed their investigations.

The home was considered one of the most beautiful in the county and in 1917 was remodeled at a cost of $12,000. Since Mr. Grimm's purchase and removal there April 1 he has completed a number of renovations and improvements.

TAX REPORTS TO BE PUBLISHED

Supreme Court Rules in Test Cases Brought by Govern- ment; Records Not Available.

Washington.—Newspapers may publish, without hindrance from the government or anyone else, any official information which congress makes available to public inspection, the supreme court declared in deciding two cases involving the publication of income tax lists opened to inspection last fall at the offices of internal revenue collectors.

The opinion, rendered by Justice Sutherland, was unanimous and was based upon a statutory construction of the law, the court finding that it was not necessary to pass upon the constitutional question of the freedom of the press. The cases decided had been brought by the government against the Kansas City Journal-Post and the Baltimore Post, which were sustained in their contentions by the lower courts.

"Information which everybody is at liberty to acquire and the acquisition of which congress seemed especially desirous of facilitating cannot, in the absence of some clear and positive publication to the contrary, be regarded otherwise than as public property, to be passed on to others as freely as the possessors of it may choose," Justice Sutherland stated.

Acting on the court finding, the bureau of internal revenue immediately began consideration of plans for a simultaneous release of the current records for the public inspection throughout the country, but Commissioner Blair was of the opinion that they could not be made available until after July 1.

Below: ROBERT E. CROWE & CAPT. AMUNDSEN

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson planned to tour the battlefields of Europe this summer, following the same itinerary she took with her late husband in peace conference days. Premier Painleve, of France, declared the next ten years may lead Europe "to the verge of the most horrible of all wars." State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, in Chicago, charged efforts had been made to "fix" the jury in the case of William D. Shepherd, on trial in connection with the mysterious death of his millionaire ward, Captain Roald Amundsen piloted one of two planes in a non-stop flight from Spitzbergen to the North Pole.

AMENDMENTS BEFORE COURT

State Supreme Court to Decide Whether $73,000,000 State Road Bonds Can Be Submitted to Voters.

Upon the decision of the State Supreme Court on arguments presented to it in Harrisburg recently, will depend whether $73,000,000 in state bonds can be submitted to voters for ratification in November of this year or in November, 1926.

The argument was based specifically upon presentation of the constitutional amendment for $35,000,000 in bonds for bonus for Pennsylvania veterans of the World War, but the court permitted argument to be presented also on behalf of presentation of the $25,000,000 bond issue for reforestation.

Both of these amendments have been passed by two Legislatures as required prior to submission to voters. The other two bond issues involved in the decision are $8,000,000 for State College buildings and equipment, and $5,000,000 for construction of armories for the Pennsylvania National Guard.

The bonus appeal, which was carried to the Appellate Court from the Dauphin county court, was the final case argued before the court. The court set a record for quick disposition of cases, hearing all ten of the arguments on its list in one day, and handing down nine decisions on cases previously heard, before adjourning its annual Harrisburg sitting.

Last night the justices of the court and other persons were guests of Governor Pinchot at dinner at the executive mansion.

Clause in Constitution

Argument on whether or not the bond amendment may be submitted this year or must wait until 1928 hinged on the clause in Section 1 of Article XVIII of the state constitution, which states that "no amendment or amendments shall be submitted oftener than once in five years." The court, in effect, was asked to decide whether this clause means that no amendment can be submitted until at least five years after the last change was made in the text of the constitution; or whether the clause means that the same amendment may not be proposed within five years of its latest previous submission.

HANG THREE SOFIA CHURCH BOMBERS

Sofia, May 27.—Three of the leaders of the recent bombing of the cathedral here in which 160 persons were killed were hanged here today. The men executed were Zadgorsky, custodian of the cathedral, Friedmann and Koeff.

The men were executed in a public square in the presence of thousands of persons. Troops formed lines about the execution place which was just behind a Jewish cemetery.

Half an hour before the men were hanged, their sentences of death were formally read. Koeff mounted the scaffold first and a gypsy executioner adjusted the noose around his neck.

Zadgorsky came second, tottering up the steps with difficulty. Friedmann, the last to mount the scaffold, approached the hangman with his head held proudly erect.

AT 72 MAN STILL WORKS IN MINES

John S. Miller, Highland, Has Worked 50 Years in Anthracite Coal Fields.

Hazleton, Pa.—Working sixty-five years in and about the mines, fifty-nine of them in service of the Jeddo-Highland Coal Company, and its predecessors, John S. Miller, of Highland, claims the honor of being the oldest active mine worker in the anthracite coal fields. He is still employed in the production of fuel in the No. 2 operations of the Jeddo-Highland Company.

Although seventy-two years of age, he continues in excellent health and is an assistant to the general inside foreman. His long experience has made him a useful factor at the workings, and he has no thought of an early retirement.

"I am not rich enough to retire, and if I were I would not be contented if I remained idle," he said once in response to an inquiry about giving up work.

Worked At 7 Years

Mr. Miller is a brother of Christian Miller, of Freeland, a member of the of the state House of Representatives from the Hazleton district of Luzerne county. He was seven years old when he got his first job in the mines. His father had been maimed in a mine accident and a boss who visited the family home offered him work to help meet the family expenses. Few laws affecting child labor were then in effect and the boy went to work. He has been at it since.

Miller's nearest competitor in the matter of long service is Thomas Larry, of Hazleton, who worked in the mines for sixty-two years.

John Kannak, of Freeland, has rounded out fifty years of service as a miner. He is now sixty-one years of age and began work at the age of eleven, graduating from one job to another until he was old enough to blast coal. He is still working as a miner for the Lehigh Valley Coal Company.

Each of the three men has gone through life so far without experiencing any serious accidents.

One Cent Boost In Gasoline Price Here

Local branches of the Atlantic and Gulf companies today announced a new retail price for gasoline, in line with increases announced by the general offices of the companies on Tuesday. Starting today the retail price of the gasoline of these two concerns will be 25 cents a gallon, including the two-cent state tax.

The Texaco company announced its boost of one cent to become effective Thursday. This gasoline will then sell for 25 cents a gallon.

BULLETS DROP GAME TO L. V. 4-3

Nerve-Racking Eleven-Inning Contest Goes to Visitors; Reigle's Pitching Features.

Gettysburg lost a nerve-racking eleven-inning game to the strong Lebanon Valley nine, of Annville, here yesterday afternoon, by the score of 4 to 3. The twirling of Pitcher Reigle, for the visitors, was the feature of the contest, the staunch little moundsman being as efficient in the eleventh as he was in the first.

Gettysburg piled up a lead of three runs in the opening frame, taking advantage of their numerous errors of Gilbert, Lebanon Valley's shortstop, who redeemed himself in the eighth by stretching a long liner to deep center into a home run, which tied the score at three-all, Mcetoxin having scored in the fifth and Finn in the seventh frame for the visitors.

Jones Draws Support

Al Jones, who started on the mound for the Bullets, was given admirable support, but gave too many free passes. He was comparatively effective until the tenth, when he was taken out in favor of Brady Armor, a Gettysburg product, who finished the game. Armor, who had been pitching rather continuously against the opposition on the southern trip of the Bullets, last week, was in fair condition, and, considering the situation into which he was placed, pitched a steller two innings.

Pitcher Reigle brought in what resulted in the winning run for the Lebanon Valley team in the eleventh session, scoring on Finn's single to center.

Bucky Mensch, captain of the Bullets team, and nifty center-fielder, was robbed of a home run in the seventh inning by ground rules, but his spearing of Reigle's fly in the eighth was the feature catch of the game. Had he missed, a home run would have resulted, with two men on bases.

BROADWAY SEES H. K. THAW AGAIN

"Simply Here on Business," He Explains, Asking Why He Is "Pestered" For Interviews.

New York, May 27.—Harry K. Thaw, whose re-entry into the night life of Manhattan for the first time since the evening he killed Stanford White is the present sensation of the white-light district, said Tuesday he might remain in the city "half an hour or three weeks."

"I'm simply here on business and I'm going to attend to that business and leave," he said at the Hotel Roosevelt over the telephone. "What do you want to pester me for?" he complained. "Lots of persons come here. If something happens I'll tell you know." He did not say what he expected to happen.

When asked if there was truth in rumors that he intended a reconciliation with his former wife, Evelyn Nesbit, the telephone clicked and the interview was over.

Thaw was first discovered in New York Sunday night, when he appeared at Texan Guinan's Night Club in the Roaring Forties, accompanied by Fawn Gray, a dancer, and lavishing tips on the cabaret staff and flowers on the women in the place.

Although gray-haired, he is reported to have shown great zest over being again in New York among the lights and music and well-dressed women. The cost of his evening, including a $500 tip to the orchestra, is estimated at $1500.

He is said to have told friends he was bored with his life as a gentleman farmer in Virginia, where he had been living since his release from a Philadelphia asylum.

Hold Town At Bay While Robbing Bank

(By Associated Press.)

Kentland, Indiana, May 27.—Automobile bandits estimated to number between 8 and 12 early today besieged the town of Brook, home of George Ade, humorist, blew open the vault of the State Bank and escaped with approximately $2500.

Telephones and telegraph wires leading out of the town were cut and the men proceeded in a leisurely and efficient manner to dynamite their way to the money. Frightened citizens were held at bay and were eye-witnesses of the robbery.

Members of the band patrolled the various quarters of the town stopping at the point of pistols all citizens who ventured from their home to investigate the five dynamite explosions that shook the place. Their work complete, the men climbed into automobiles and made their escape.

Her fingers turned a page or two swiftly. On the margin was a pencilled note.

"I must see you alone, Dobyans. I must."

She lifted to him a face flushed and eager, from which wounded eyes filmy with tears appealed to him. Her shyness, her diffidence, the childlike call upon his chivalry were wholly charming. She was a distractingly pretty woman, and she had thrown herself upon his mercy. Verinder began insensibly to soften, but he would not give up his grievance.

"It's amusing, too—and unnecessary, I think," he said.

The long lashes fluttered tremulously to her cheeks. It seemed to him that she was on the verge of unconsciousness, that the pent emotion was going to prove too much for her.

"I—I think the story calls for it," she answered, a little brokenly.

He retorted, still carrying on the conversation that was to mean one thing to the others in case they heard another to them. "Depends on the point of view, I suppose. The story is plain enough—doesn't need any more to carry its meaning."

He was standing between her and the rest of the party. Joyce laid an appealing hand on his coat sleeve. Tears brimmed over from the soft eyes. She bit her lip and turned her head away. If ever a woman confessed love without words Joyce was doing it now. Verinder's inflammable heart began to quiver.

"Where?" he asked grudgingly, lowering his voice.

A glow of triumphant relief swept through her. She had won. But the very nearness of her defeat tempered pride to an emotion still related to gratitude. The warm eyes that met his were alive with thanks. She moved her head slightly toward the window.

In another moment they stood outside, alone in the darkness. The night was chill and she shivered at the change from the warm room. Verinder stepped back into the parlor, stripped from the piano the small Savajo rug that draped it, and re-joined Joyce on the porch. He wrapped it about her shoulders.

She nodded thanks and led him to the end of the porch. For a few moments she leaned on the railing and watched the street lights. Then, abruptly, she shot her question at him.

"Why are you going away?"

Stiff as a poker, he made answer. "Business in London, Miss Seldon. Sorry to leave and all that, but—"

She cut him off sharply. "I want the truth. What have I done that you should . . . treat me so?"

Anger stirred in him again. "Did I say you had done anything?"

"But you think I'm to blame. You know you do."

"Do I?" His vanity and suspicion made him wary, though he knew she was trying to win him back. He told himself that he had been made a fool of long enough.

"Yes, you do . . . and it's all your fault." She broke down and turned half from him. Deep sobs began to rack her body.

"I'd like to know how it's my fault," he demanded resentfully. "Am I to blame because you broke your engagement to walk with me and went with that thief Kilmeny?"

"Yes." The word fell from her lips so low that he almost doubted his ears.

"What? By Jove, that's rich!" Her luminous eyes fell full into his, then dropped. "If . . . if you can't see—"

"See what? I see you threw me overboard for him. I see you've been flirting a mile a minute with the beggar and playing fast and loose with me. I'm hanged if I stand it."

"Oh, Dobyans! Don't you see?"

Two-game bills are scheduled for teams in the Adams County League for Memorial Day, Saturday, with the above clubs pitted against each other. Much interest centers around the Arendtsville-McSherrystown contest.

Last year, these two teams battled neck-and-neck for the title with the McSherrystown aggregation nosing out the winner for the pennant.

This year the Arendtsville club has not reached its stride, losing two tilts to New Oxford, now holding the top position, and the ball fans of the county are anxiously awaiting the opening tilt Saturday morning at McSherrystown. In the afternoon the Gettysburg is pitted against Midway in the morning at Midway and in the afternoon on the playground diamond.

New Oxford is the favorite to take both contests from Biglerville while Littlestown is on the long end of betting odds to take the Bendersville-Aspers combine into port.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS

If you try to find out how Ty Cobb became one of the greatest base ball players in the world, you will learn his natural ability would not have helped him very much if he hadn't also been a great worker.

Most every school boy knows Cobb is a left-handed batter and was weaker against left-handed pitchers than against right-handers.

To overcome this weakness, a house organ for a metropolitan banking institution points out, Cobb used to get the left-handers on his own club to pitch to him. If they were not available, he would hire some left-handed thrower.

By doing this he accustomed himself to meet balls from the left side of the body, and soon he became as efficient in hitting left-handers as he was in meeting right-handers.

Cobb was also the first to start swinging three bats before his turn at the plate. He figured out that when he threw two of them away the weight would be reduced two-thirds and the single bat in his hands would appear to be very light.

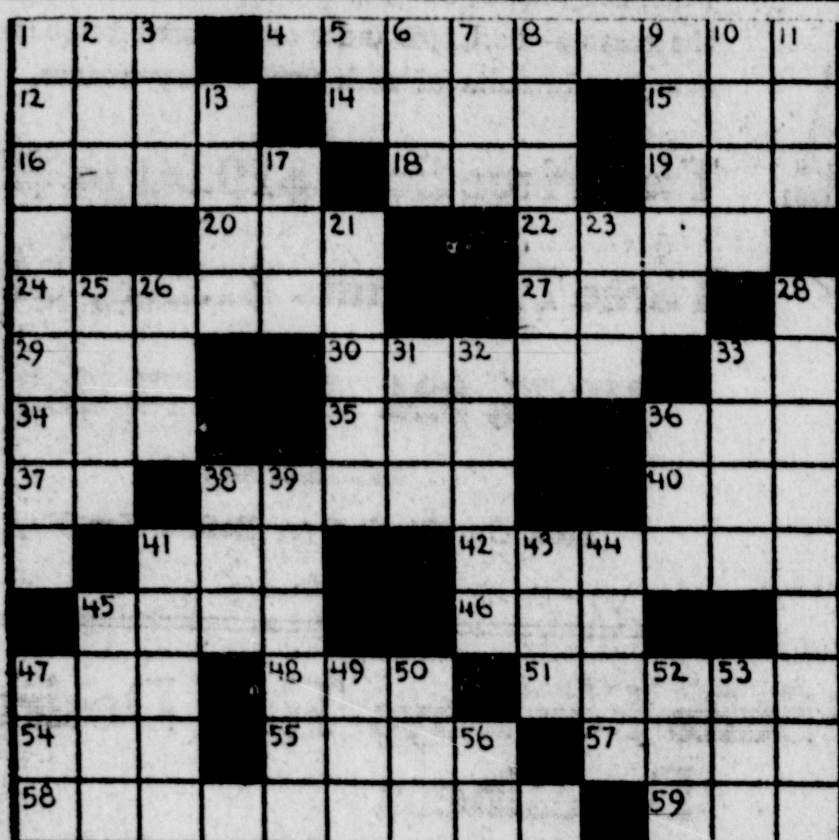

Also, instead of standing squarely on his feet, he stood on his toes so that he was able to shift his body quickly and take his choice of any ball pitched to him.

Cobb succeeded because he worked and thought his way through. He left almost nothing to chance.

We rush around so much that few of us have time to let our minds develop ideas. Our business is our greatest enemy. It keeps us from true success. To develop, a human being must be alone a great deal. Too much company, too much gadding about, too much talk keep us thoughtless and unformed until it is too late.

Here is a new beatitude: Blessed are the true receivers, for they alone create happiness for the givers of the world. Dogs are loved because they are so naturally generous in expressing thanks for what they receive. It is a joy to give to them. People are prevented from becoming great receivers by false pride or other negative emotions that make them stiff.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

NELLIE GIVES HER VERSION OF IT

"So you saw him in the garden in his evening clothes today, and I suppose he told you I had given his stuff away. Well, we've been married twenty years, and in that time I'll swear I've hoarded twenty suits of clothes. I knew he'd never wear; If I suggest disposing of his stuff he mutters: 'No, I'm saving that to wear myself if fishing I should go.'"

"A suit might hang for years and years upon a hook, and he would never take it down or speak a word of it to me; But let me give the things away, and instantly he'd call: 'Where is that old brown suit of mine I've saved to wear next fall? The moths were in it? What of that? I want that suit to wear. While hunting hippopotamus or elephant or bear.'"

"Old clothing is a mania with him, old hats and shoes. He treasures with the fondest care as things he'll want to use; He talks about his gardening, and fancies, I suppose, He needs a dozen worn out suits to plant one stinky rose; Unwanted and untouched for years his ancient stuff might stay. He only wants it when he finds I've given it away."

"When'er he buys a suit of clothes he always says to me: 'I'll keep the old for fishing trips.' You'd really think that he Were old like Walton come to life, but this is truth I tell, He hasn't gone to catch a fish since first he called me Nell; Of course I give the stuff away, despite the fuss he makes, I'm sick and tired of keeping it for trips he never takes."

Good name in man and woman, dear my lord,

Is the immediate jewel of their souls: Who steals my purse, steals trash; 'Tis something, nothing; 'Twas mine, 'tis his, and has been slave to thousands; But he that filches from me my good name

Fence Posts That Last
Concrete fence posts need no paint or repairs; they cannot rot, but grow stronger with age. They present a neater, more efficient appearance and hold the wires securely—forming a safe enclosure for field or yard. They can be made indoors during the winter and set up in the spring.

If you make them yourself your building material dealer can give you an Atlas book that tells you how—or he can direct you to a concrete products plant where you can buy them ready made.

Of course, you will want to be sure your concrete is made with Atlas Portland Cement.

Everywhere this New Delco-Light has won an Instant Welcome

A month ago we announced a new Delco-Light electric plant—Delco-Light at a new low price—Delco-Light so inexpensive in cost that it could bring the blessings of electricity to every farm home in America.

Thousands of farmers have found, in this new Delco-Light, the thing they've always wanted—a genuine Delco-Light plant that they could have, completely installed on their farms, at a cost that was really low. Thousands of farm women have found the Delco-Light that would lighten their burdens and bring new happiness to their families—all at a very economical cost.

We Want You to Know About It

Here is a brief description of the new Delco-Light, and some general information about our remarkable new plan of complete installation and easy time payments. Read every word of this information. And then write or telephone immediately for the details of our complete offer.

A 600-Watt Non-Storage Battery Plant

The new plant is a genuine Delco-Light in every respect—full 600-watt capacity, strong, sturdily built economical in operation. It is equipped with a standard Delco starter and an economical starting battery. And its price is only $195 f.o.b. Dayton—the lowest price and the greatest value ever offered in a Delco-Light electric plant.

Complete Installation at a Remarkably Small Cost

In addition to this, special arrangements have been made whereby the Delco-Light Dealer in your community will install your plant and wire your house for five lights to be located wherever you specify. You will receive with the plant five beautiful spun-brass lighting fixtures complete with bulbs.

And all of this—plant, installation, wiring, fixtures, everything ready to turn on the lights—will cost you only $53, in addition to the price of the plant itself.

A Small Down Payment—Balance on Easy Terms

Finally, we have arranged that this new low cost for Delco-Light, completely installed, can be paid on terms so easy that anyone can take advantage of them. The total cost is only $248, including freight (a little more west of the Mississippi). But you make only a small down payment. The balance is payable on easy terms, arranged to suit your convenience.

Ask for Details

Never before has such an offer been made. Never before has Delco-Light cost so little and been so easy to buy. It means that any farm home—your home—can have Delco-Light today.

At the bottom of this advertisement appear the name and address of the Delco-Light Dealer for your community. Call on him, write, or telephone for full information—specifications of the plant, illustrations of the fixtures that come with it, details of our complete installation and wiring plan and the figures that show how easily you can now get Delco-Light.

STATE IS BIG
USER OF SPUDS

Pennsylvanians are potato eaters. During 1924, 15,716 carloads of "spuds" reached fifteen of the larger cities in the state, a report of the state bureau of markets disclosed. Of this amount one-half went to Philadelphia, one-fourth to Pittsburgh and the remainder was distributed to other centers of population.

In addition to these thousands of carloads, the state used thousands of bushels of home grown varieties which were sold through local markets and which were not included in the check, as it was estimated only about 10 per cent of the state's crop is shipped by rail.

A streak of fire splits the sky. CRASH! Children—and their parents—shudder. Someone lowers the shades. No wonder people fear lightning. It strikes more than 1,500 Americans a year—killing about 500, maiming and crippling the rest for life. Does it pay to gamble with death? Not when, with the Dodd System of Lightning Protection you can get absolute protection at low cost. The Dodd System today is guarding over 200,000 buildings. Besides protecting you, it usually reduces your fire insurance rate. Find out what places are safest from lightning, and why. "FAITH" NEEDED
TO FIND GOLD

Harrisburg.—It takes people of many various ideas to make this world in the opinion of Ralph A. Stone, assistant state geologist, who was told by a caller recently that Faith was the prime essential needed to discover the precious minerals beneath the earth's surface. The geologist said his caller drifted into the office to tell him that the territory about Harrisburg was full of gold, waiting to be discovered by those who had "faith."

Mr. Stone said his caller first apprised him of the fact that he was not a "book" geologist, but a natural geologist. When asked what he meant by that term his reply was "one who does not eat meat and lives solely on vegetables and nuts."

The "faith" to which this "natural" geologist referred was discovered to be first, faith in the power of God, and then faith in one's own endeavors and he made it quite plain, Mr. Stone said, that a person possessed of a sufficient abundance of these two would be rewarded with recovery of gold wherever he dug.

MAP OF READING JUST UNEARTHED

Aged and Faded, Plot Still Shows Erasures and Interlineations of Berks City.

Reading, Pa.—Yellow with age and faded but with the writing still legible a plat of Reading together with several other aged parchments has been presented the Historical Society of Berks county by Charles F. Sherman, of Atlantic City, a former resident of Reading. The plat is believed to be the original for it shows erasure and interlineations.

The parchments which lay hidden for years were discovered in the attic of the house on the farm of Thomas Lightfoot and were given Mr. Sherman in 1879 by Mr. Lightfoot, a descendant of Thomas Lightfoot, who made the early plat. They were wrapped in an old newspaper called "The Mill of Claypole's Daily Advertiser," which bore the date 1792 and the name of Thomas Lightfoot on its margin.

The parchments were as follows: "Draught of the Division of Proprietaries Lands at Reading. Divided by Edmund Physick, Esqr., by Thomas Lightfoot"; "Patent of Supreme Executive Council for Lands in Berks county, Benjamin Franklin, President, 1788," which has a signature of Franklin and "Patent of Thomas and William Penn for Lands in Berks County" which was signed by John Penn.

Mother often wishes you would make those alterations you have always planned. A few sheets of this rigid wallboard—a few hours' work with hammer and saw—and you have a storeroom or laundry, an extra room, a fruit cellar—all walled and ceiled with solid, vermin-proof, fire-proof Sheetrock. A TALK WITH A GETTYSBURG MAN

Mr. Newman Tells Something of Interest to Gettysburg Folks

There's nothing more convincing than the statement of someone you know and have confidence in. That's why this talk with Mr. Newman, of Franklin street, should be mighty helpful here in Gettysburg.

Edward Newman, 26 Franklin St., Gettysburg, says: "My kidneys were in poor shape. For a long time my back was so weak I could hardly lift anything and when I bent over, knife-like pains shot across my kidneys. Mornings I felt sore in my joints and limbs and was all tired out. My kidneys acted too freely and I was bothered during the night. Doan's Pills did away with the backache and put my kidneys in the best of shape."
